

Ready to show off your skills?

We are currently looking for someone who has an appetite for learning, a deep desire to help others achieve their goals, and a knack for all things digital marketing.

It's okay if you don't know everything about digital marketing, but if you have had experience in any one of these specialties, we have a place for you: SEO, PPC, social media marketing, content marketing, marketing analyst or as an account manager in an agency.

Things that we would need you to do:

- Take fantastic care of our small business advertisers
 - Ask a lot of questions and provide your expertise whenever you can
 - Analyze reports and find out the "why" behind what is going on
 - Train our clients on how to use our tools so they can monitor the success of our efforts
 - Stay ridiculously organized and keep others organized too
 - Be okay juggling multiple projects simultaneously
 - Work with the rest of the team to fulfill advertising objectives and speak up when we don't
- If you:

- Consider yourself creative and analytical
 - Have committed yourself to life-long learning
 - Prefer to work with a close-knit team to achieve extraordinary goals
 - Have at least 2 years of digital marketing experience
- Or, even better
- Have 5+ years of digital marketing experience with a specialty in one functional area
 - Intermediate to expert level of Google Analytics and Google Ads
 - Have successfully run an advertising campaign for either a small business or an agency supporting small businesses

And just thought to yourself, "oh my gosh, that's me!" we'd like you to apply now.
