What is the Latina Health Symposium?

The Latina Health Symposium provides information and tools for public health professionals, community health educators and social service professionals to use in working with Hispanic/Latina women around health issues.

Who should attend?

Public health professionals, social service professionals, lay health workers (promotores), community health workers, outreach workers, community health educators, health services students, and you!

What issues will be covered?

Speakers will address the adverse childhood experiences study (ACES), compassion fatigue, domestic violence, and how to effectively outreach to the Latina community. Participants will leave with community, local, state, and national resources.

Can I be an exhibitor?

Yes!!!! We have limited exhibitor space available, please contact us for information. Individual contributions also accepted at the event.
